

Call for Artists

PRESS RELEASE:

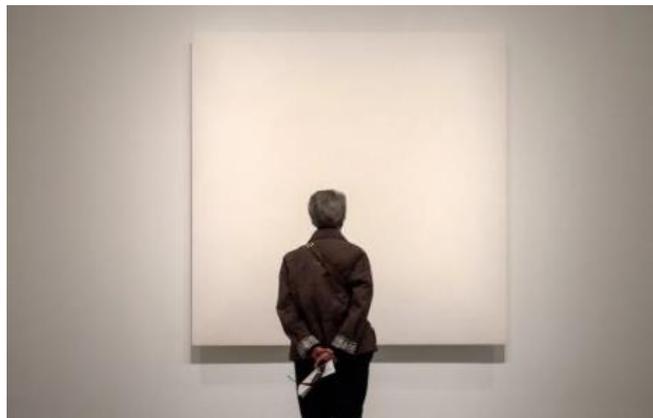

Located in the Haynie's Corner Arts District in downtown Evansville, the stately Donaldson Arms Apartment is undergoing a radical renovation - including a renaming and rebranding.

And just between us? The new name is most likely going to have the word 'ART' in it!!

We know this will better reflect this building's prominence and location in the downtown Evansville Art's district.

By way of this Call for Artists, we are extending an invitation to put your signature piece(s) on this historic building, applying your work of art directly onto these historic hallways!

What will you create to be a part of history?

An Invitation to Artists

- ✓ Are you passionate about bright, welcoming spaces and feel they should be filled with art?
- ✓ Are you interested in creating art in a unique venue of public spaces this summer?
- ✓ Do you enjoy creating a positive impact in an otherwise bland, underutilized space?
- ✓ Do you want to help build a community?

If so we want to hear from you!

Apply to create a work of art in a medium of your choosing, at the soon-to-be-renamed historic Donaldson Arms Apartments in the heart of the arts district in downtown Evansville and become a part of the history of this lovely building.

Pender Property Management LLC - aka 'Team Pender' - is inviting all artists interested in creating unique hallway works of art in this historic building, to apply by March 1st, 2020 at manager@penderpropertymanagement.com

Artists will be given the opportunity to choose a “hallway theme” where they will create work that can be applied directly onto the newly finished surfaces throughout the space. Collaboration is encouraged. We love both bold and classic work, with single and multiple pieces being accepted. In other words—we are very open! The theme of work should be connected to one of the following: a) the historic nature of the building and area (1920’s construction) b) creating and building community or c) the sheer love of beautiful art in public spaces – art that makes people smile and feel happy to be part of our community. We value the intersectionality of community issues with art, as humans are very much a part community, and we invite you to explore what that means to your creation. There are art revolutions happening throughout the world, it being bold and bright in nature, and we invite you to create with that in mind!

What will the selection process look like?

The Team Pender evaluation committee will pick up to 10 artists for individual exhibitions but reserve the right for one artist to complete art in multiple hallways at their sole discretion. All artists will be listed in all printed material.

Which mediums are acceptable?

We accept the following: visual artworks, including paintings, photography, mixed media, digital art, and glass/wood. We do not accept jewelry, tapestries, or any sort of arts and crafts. All mediums must be contained within the pre-identified spaces allowed (maximum 24in x36in), not to protrude more than 3 inches from the wall and must be mounted directly to the wall within that space by the artist. Be aware, the walls are lathe plaster and adhering things can be tricky!

What experience is necessary?

The evaluation committee will be looking for a portfolio (published or unpublished) that demonstrates ability and creativity, as well as your vision for the spaces. We welcome both upcoming talents, as well as established artists.

Is there compensation for materials?

Artists are requested to submit a budget for their proposed idea.

What are the parameters of display?

The artistic works will be contained within a predetermined boundary/boundaries- the artist will propose the size of work in their submission, subject to acceptance. If the medium is other than flat, the artist will be responsible for mounting the display in close coordination with Team Pender. The agreed upon area will be framed by Team Pender.

When will I find out if I was chosen and then what?

The evaluation committee will acknowledge winners by March 31st, 2020 and the artists will be expected to complete their art within three (3) months by June 30th, 2020.
